

The Sinclair Broadcast Group should in no way be allowed to show a biased film on their stations as a deliberate political move, not to mention so close to the election. This is the same group who would not give fallen soldiers the honor of a moment of respect because they said the show dedicated to them was a political move, yet the show made no political statement and only reported facts. The film Sinclair intends to broadcast is no doubt a biased attack on John Kerry that will take their view on the events surrounding Kerry Vietnam testimony, that as any one educated on the subject knows is looked at very differently by different people. In my opinion he helped bring an end to the war by going head to head with Nixon but others do not like what he said about our soldiers. To take one side of this issue and force your stations to broadcast it is a horrible abuse of the public airwaves. Who can stop them from this terrible abuse of power?
